OUR STORIES

“What really fascinates me is the supportive and responsive spirit displayed across the TATA community. This made every collaboration very enjoyable and effective. I am currently part of API Strategy and Ecosystem team which is aimed to streamline current business processes for faster and easier customer onboarding. Apart from work, the company also encourages personal development by providing courses on Coursera and Skillsoft. Finally, what beats being able to work out in the onsite gym or a game of snooker after office hours? Work hard, play harder!”

Global Campus Programme 2017
Electrical Engineering, NUS

“It is a brilliant opportunity to work alongside some of brightest minds in a rapidly growing industry that is a critical force for innovation and disruption across various technology industries. It allows me to hone my commercial skills in real projects. All the case studies I went through during the MBA now come to life.”

Master of Business Administration, INSEAD

“Tata Communications advocates the importance of keeping fit while working hard. The thing that I enjoy the most in the company is the fitness notion and got my first running race fully sponsored! At Tata Communications, we function as a global team, the diversity you could experience here is unparalleled. Though there are challenges faced in building a cohesive team across different time zones, the underlying commitment to deliver high work standards drives the team to overcome our cultural differences and embrace diversity positively.”

Cindy Low

Global Campus Programme 2016
Master of Business Administration, SMU

“GCP provides an excellent platform for personal growth through learning. It begins with a well-organized 1-week induction in India, which allowed me to get onboard quickly and meet many international friends. It also offered many opportunities to interact with the company’s senior management, which are precious experiences that help me formulate future career path. The program provides strong support for growth and I look forward to my future career in Tata Communications.”
